

Conference host
TONY JONES

Garran Oration delivered by
GILLIAN TRIGGS

FAULT LINES FOR THE FUTURE OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR

The 2018 IPAA National Conference will examine fault lines with the potential to dramatically shake the foundations of Australia's professional public sector.

PROFESSIONAL PUBLIC SERVANTS IN A HYPER-PARTISAN WORLD

What can we learn from the US and the UK about what it means to be a public sector professional in a hyper-partisan political world?

THE REALITY OF THE AI-AUTOMATION REVOLUTION

What is the realistic potential for automation and artificial intelligence to reshape the forms and functions of public sector workplaces, workforces and service delivery?

CONSULTANTS AND PUBLIC SECTOR CAPABILITY

What are the capabilities that the public sector needs for long term success and does the growing use of consultants support or inhibit our sector from developing these capabilities?

Q&A: WHAT'S THE FUTURE OF THE PUBLIC SECTOR?

Automation, outsourcing, integrity protection, workplace and workforce change, growing community expectations, hyper-partisan politics, intergovernmental relations... Our closing Q&A session explores the future of the public sector.

In partnership with:

Wednesday 17 October 2018

9.00am-5.00pm

Melbourne Cricket Ground

Olympic Room

Welcome event: Tuesday 16 October 2018 from 6.00pm